

If your child was born in a Bremen hospital or birth centre, it will notify the Register Office of the birth of your child in writing.

If your child was born at home, the birth of your child must be registered with the Register Office by you or another person, who knows about the birth, within one week. You need a birth confirmation letter from your midwife for this purpose.

Required documents:

All certificates, documents and identification papers must be presented to the Register Office as originals and not as copies.

Foreign documents must be translated into the German language by a sworn translator.

Please bring the ID cards / passports or, if applicable, the foreign passports and the electronic residence titles of both parents with you when submitting the documents to the Register Office.

Further documents will often be needed if you are foreign nationals or were born abroad.

You can also submit all documents to the hospital. It will then pass the documents on to the Register Office. The Register Office will send the Birth Certificates to your home address or will make an appointment with you.

General Notes:

Fees:

You will get 3 Birth Certificates earmarked for maternity allowance, child benefit and parenting benefit free of charge. Each further certificate will cost EUR 13.00 or EUR 7.00.

Please bring an interpreter along if you need one for your visit to the Register Office.

The Register Office will handle the registration of your child with the Residence Registration Office.

 You can reach the Bremen City Register Office by telephone on 115.
